

LEADERS OF FAIR AND CHAMBER MEET

Advisory Committee Discusses Plans With Commerce Body's Executives

ANNOUNCEMENT IS COMING

Booming along with their plans for the Sesquicentennial, members of the Advisory Executive Board of the fair conferred today with the Executive Committee of the Chamber of Commerce.

The meeting took place at the Belvoir-Strafford. Ernest T. Trigg, chairman of both committees, presided.

Members of the Chamber of Commerce committee, both as business men and as representatives of the Chamber, gave their views to the fair leaders, and an important announcement is expected to result from the meeting.

Prior to this gathering, the Advisory Executive Committee held a regular meeting and further discussed tentative plans for the exposition. An announcement of this plan will be made when its details have been completed.

The committee learned officially today that Detroit is willing to take the fair if Philadelphia does not want it. Dr. James Lattimore Hinman, vice president and director of program and exhibits of the International Peace and Waterways Exposition, has been held in Detroit since Dec. 20, last night after conferring confidentially with several persons directly connected with the Sesquicentennial Fair.

"I gather," he said at the Belvoir-Strafford, "that the Philadelphians are trying to make the Philadelphians pay for the expenses of the exposition. It Philadelphia should decide to abandon the project, Detroit would postpone her jubilee until 1926 and lay special stress on the celebration of the 150th anniversary of the Declaration of Independence."

Dr. Hinman, who is 60, according to Dr. Hinman, to be held in the 60 acres of private ground belonging to the estate of Ransom E. Olds, millionaire automobile manufacturer.

PHILADELPHIA TO HONOR MEMORY OF PASTEUR

Developments in Science and Medicine Expected at Academy Exercises

Philadelphia's physicians look forward to the announcement of important developments in medicine and science here before the Pasteur Centenary Celebrations here this summer. Leaders in medicine and scientific research from all parts of the country will head panels at the biennial meeting in the Academy of Medicine at the dinner in the Belvoir-Strafford Ballroom in the evening. The speakers are to be the most eminent scientists and physicians in the United States.

Dr. Ethene Barret, a dental surgeon to the Philadelphia delegation, will represent France at the exercises.

Julius Jacobson, French Ambassador, will be one of the principal speakers. He will arrive at West Philadelphia station tomorrow at 1:37 and be escorted to the Academy by local French societies.

Special delegations from the universities at the exercises will be seated in the full vestments of their academic gowns. Washington University will be represented by W. G. Williams, who has been installed. From the state, there will be broadbands on 40-meter wavelengths starting at 2 o'clock. The other great stations will remain silent during the exercises. An audience of 300,000 persons is expected to hear the addresses.

FOG HINDERS AIRMEN WHO SEARCH FOR TUG

Marine Men Believe Cornell to Have Founded on Lake Erie

Erie, Pa., Dec. 26.— It appears that the Cornell legend, which has been passed down from her crew of eight, was impressed in their work by a heavy snow and fog. Marine men who have kept up the hunt for four years since the disappearance of the Cornell have had no relief that the Cornell had burned, nor considered mounting out her tug which had not been used for two years, was very dry when she put to sea.

The disappearance of the Cornell cuts the date back to 1869, before Marquette and Beeson, N. C., left Cleveland Harbor on Dec. 26, 1869, with nine crewmen. No trace was ever seen again.

A week later the searchers, a crew, frozen to painful death, found lifeboats of the Cornell washed ashore at Erie, where she had never been seen again.

PHILADELPHIANS REJOICE AT JOAN OF ARC TRIBUTE

Unusual Honor by England Cause of Much Comment

Philadelphians have been discussing the memory of Joan of Arc, who is to be honored at the cathedral service in St. Peter's, Rome, on Dec. 31, by Pope Benedict XV, to be celebrated in New York, Boston, Liverpool, Paris, and elsewhere. The life of Joan of Arc and a history of all movements to honor her memory still continue.

"Here is a person, an object, too regarded as a saint in England, now given to a saint to be used up in the Whitechapel of England. This is a very unusual honor for France."

"As far as I know, there is no statue to Joan of Arc in England now."

"In America, the first state to get in the one that now stands in Flushing Park."

OPEN BIDS FOR COUNCIL

Auto Service, Printing and Stationery Offers Are Received

Bids for printing and stationery, City Councilmen in Hillsdale, for the printing of the City Council manual and journal, and for stationery and supplies were opened today by Richard Weiglein, president of Council and William H. Editor, clerk.

The Cardigan Lake Council, which has the contract for furnishing auto service, has received a bid of $4 an hour. The Quaker City Cab Company and Frank McGrath each bid $3 an hour. Councilmen use the automobiles to make inspection tours and other trips.

The Duplex Printing Company submitted the low bids for the printing of the journal and manual. Contracts are to be awarded later.

BULLET-RIDDLED BANDIT CAR

ARMENIAN HEARING OPPOSED BY TURKS

Lausanne Receives Strong Protest Against Conference Decision

NEW DIFFICULTIES ARISE

(By Associated Press)

Lausanne, Dec. 26.—A vigorously worded protest against the decision of the Near East conference sub-committee on minorities to permit the Armenian delegates to appear before the sub-committee and set forth their desires was forwarded to the conference today by the Turkish delegation.

Thus a new discordant note marked the resumption of the peace negotiations after the Christmas recess. The sub-committee on minorities had planned to receive the Armenian and Bulgarian representatives this afternoon, the Armenians to explain their demands for an Armenian national home in the Ottoman Empire and for the solution of the Bulgarian problem, which is passing to Turkey.

The Ottoman protest was addressed to President Montague of the sub-committee on minorities. It read:

"In the official pronouncements made which was received by our delegation I read, without surprise, that the Armenian and Bulgarian delegations will be heard by the sub-committee on minorities. At the end of the last meeting of this sub-committee, I presented objections to your plan to have the Bulgarian delegation, and it was agreed that the Bulgarians would be received privately by the Allies."

The Ottoman protest was addressed to President Montague of the sub-committee on minorities. It read:

"In the official pronouncements made which was received by our delegation I read, without surprise, that the Armenian and Bulgarian delegations will be heard by the sub-committee on minorities. At the end of the last meeting of this sub-committee, I presented objections to your plan to have the Bulgarian delegation, and it was agreed that the Bulgarians would be received privately by the Allies."

The Ottoman protest was addressed to President Montague of the sub-committee on minorities. It read:

"In the official pronouncements made which was received by our delegation I read, without surprise, that the Armenian and Bulgarian delegations will be heard by the sub-committee on minorities. At the end of the last meeting of this sub-committee, I presented objections to your plan to have the Bulgarian delegation, and it was agreed that the Bulgarians would be received privately by the Allies."

The Ottoman protest was addressed to President Montague of the sub-committee on minorities. It read:

"In the official pronouncements made which was received by our delegation I read, without surprise, that the Armenian and Bulgarian delegations will be heard by the sub-committee on minorities. At the end of the last meeting of this sub-committee, I presented objections to your plan to have the Bulgarian delegation, and it was agreed that the Bulgarians would be received privately by the Allies."

The Ottoman protest was addressed to President Montague of the sub-committee on minorities. It read:

"In the official pronouncements made which was received by our delegation I read, without surprise, that the Armenian and Bulgarian delegations will be heard by the sub-committee on minorities. At the end of the last meeting of this sub-committee, I presented objections to your plan to have the Bulgarian delegation, and it was agreed that the Bulgarians would be received privately by the Allies."

The Ottoman protest was addressed to President Montague of the sub-committee on minorities. It read:

"In the official pronouncements made which was received by our delegation I read, without surprise, that the Armenian and Bulgarian delegations will be heard by the sub-committee on minorities. At the end of the last meeting of this sub-committee, I presented objections to your plan to have the Bulgarian delegation, and it was agreed that the Bulgarians would be received privately by the Allies."

The Ottoman protest was addressed to President Montague of the sub-committee on minorities. It read:

"In the official pronouncements made which was received by our delegation I read, without surprise, that the Armenian and Bulgarian delegations will be heard by the sub-committee on minorities. At the end of the last meeting of this sub-committee, I presented objections to your plan to have the Bulgarian delegation, and it was agreed that the Bulgarians would be received privately by the Allies."

The Ottoman protest was addressed to President Montague of the sub-committee on minorities. It read:

"In the official pronouncements made which was received by our delegation I read, without surprise, that the Armenian and Bulgarian delegations will be heard by the sub-committee on minorities. At the end of the last meeting of this sub-committee, I presented objections to your plan to have the Bulgarian delegation, and it was agreed that the Bulgarians would be received privately by the Allies."

The Ottoman protest was addressed to President Montague of the sub-committee on minorities. It read:

"In the official pronouncements made which was received by our delegation I read, without surprise, that the Armenian and Bulgarian delegations will be heard by the sub-committee on minorities. At the end of the last meeting of this sub-committee, I presented objections to your plan to have the Bulgarian delegation, and it was agreed that the Bulgarians would be received privately by the Allies."

The Ottoman protest was addressed to President Montague of the sub-committee on minorities. It read:

"In the official pronouncements made which was received by our delegation I read, without surprise, that the Armenian and Bulgarian delegations will be heard by the sub-committee on minorities. At the end of the last meeting of this sub-committee, I presented objections to your plan to have the Bulgarian delegation, and it was agreed that the Bulgarians would be received privately by the Allies."

The Ottoman protest was addressed to President Montague of the sub-committee on minorities. It read:

"In the official pronouncements made which was received by our delegation I read, without surprise, that the Armenian and Bulgarian delegations will be heard by the sub-committee on minorities. At the end of the last meeting of this sub-committee, I presented objections to your plan to have the Bulgarian delegation, and it was agreed that the Bulgarians would be received privately by the Allies."

The Ottoman protest was addressed to President Montague of the sub-committee on minorities. It read:

"In the official pronouncements made which was received by our delegation I read, without surprise, that the Armenian and Bulgarian delegations will be heard by the sub-committee on minorities. At the end of the last meeting of this sub-committee, I presented objections to your plan to have the Bulgarian delegation, and it was agreed that the Bulgarians would be received privately by the Allies."

The Ottoman protest was addressed to President Montague of the sub-committee on minorities. It read:

"In the official pronouncements made which was received by our delegation I read, without surprise, that the Armenian and Bulgarian delegations will be heard by the sub-committee on minorities. At the end of the last meeting of this sub-committee, I presented objections to your plan to have the Bulgarian delegation, and it was agreed that the Bulgarians would be received privately by the Allies."

The Ottoman protest was addressed to President Montague of the sub-committee on minorities. It read:

"In the official pronouncements made which was received by our delegation I read, without surprise, that the Armenian and Bulgarian delegations will be heard by the sub-committee on minorities. At the end of the last meeting of this sub-committee, I presented objections to your plan to have the Bulgarian delegation, and it was agreed that the Bulgarians would be received privately by the Allies."

The Ottoman protest was addressed to President Montague of the sub-committee on minorities. It read:

"In the official pronouncements made which was received by our delegation I read, without surprise, that the Armenian and Bulgarian delegations will be heard by the sub-committee on minorities. At the end of the last meeting of this sub-committee, I presented objections to your plan to have the Bulgarian delegation, and it was agreed that the Bulgarians would be received privately by the Allies."

The Ottoman protest was addressed to President Montague of the sub-committee on minorities. It read:

"In the official pronouncements made which was received by our delegation I read, without surprise, that the Armenian and Bulgarian delegations will be heard by the sub-committee on minorities. At the end of the last meeting of this sub-committee, I presented objections to your plan to have the Bulgarian delegation, and it was agreed that the Bulgarians would be received privately by the Allies."

The Ottoman protest was addressed to President Montague of the sub-committee on minorities. It read:

"In the official pronouncements made which was received by our delegation I read, without surprise, that the Armenian and Bulgarian delegations will be heard by the sub-committee on minorities. At the end of the last meeting of this sub-committee, I presented objections to your plan to have the Bulgarian delegation, and it was agreed that the Bulgarians would be received privately by the Allies."

The Ottoman protest was addressed to President Montague of the sub-committee on minorities. It read:

"In the official pronouncements made which was received by our delegation I read, without surprise, that the Armenian and Bulgarian delegations will be heard by the sub-committee on minorities. At the end of the last meeting of this sub-committee, I presented objections to your plan to have the Bulgarian delegation, and it was agreed that the Bulgarians would be received privately by the Allies."

The Ottoman protest was addressed to President Montague of the sub-committee on minorities. It read:

"In the official pronouncements made which was received by our delegation I read, without surprise, that the Armenian and Bulgarian delegations will be heard by the sub-committee on minorities. At the end of the last meeting of this sub-committee, I presented objections to your plan to have the Bulgarian delegation, and it was agreed that the Bulgarians would be received privately by the Allies."

The Ottoman protest was addressed to President Montague of the sub-committee on minorities. It read:

"In the official pronouncements made which was received by our delegation I read, without surprise, that the Armenian and Bulgarian delegations will be heard by the sub-committee on minorities. At the end of the last meeting of this sub-committee, I presented objections to your plan to have the Bulgarian delegation, and it was agreed that the Bulgarians would be received privately by the Allies."

The Ottoman protest was addressed to President Montague of the sub-committee on minorities. It read:

"In the official pronouncements made which was received by our delegation I read, without surprise, that the Armenian and Bulgarian delegations will be heard by the sub-committee on minorities. At the end of the last meeting of this sub-committee, I presented objections to your plan to have the Bulgarian delegation, and it was agreed that the Bulgarians would be received privately by the Allies."

The Ottoman protest was addressed to President Montague of the sub-committee on minorities. It read:

"In the official pronouncements made which was received by our delegation I read, without surprise, that the Armenian and Bulgarian delegations will be heard by the sub-committee on minorities. At the end of the last meeting of this sub-committee, I presented objections to your plan to have the Bulgarian delegation, and it was agreed that the Bulgarians would be received privately by the Allies."

The Ottoman protest was addressed to President Montague of the sub-committee on minorities. It read:

"In the official pronouncements made which was received by our delegation I read, without surprise, that the Armenian and Bulgarian delegations will be heard by the sub-committee on minorities. At the end of the last meeting of this sub-committee, I presented objections to your plan to have the Bulgarian delegation, and it was agreed that the Bulgarians would be received privately by the Allies."

The Ottoman protest was addressed to President Montague of the sub-committee on minorities. It read:

"In the official pronouncements made which was received by our delegation I read, without surprise, that the Armenian and Bulgarian delegations will be heard by the sub-committee on minorities. At the end of the last meeting of this sub-committee, I presented objections to your plan to have the Bulgarian delegation, and it was agreed that the Bulgarians would be received privately by the Allies."

The Ottoman protest was addressed to President Montague of the sub-committee on minorities. It read:

"In the official pronouncements made which was received by our delegation I read, without surprise, that the Armenian and Bulgarian delegations will be heard by the sub-committee on minorities. At the end of the last meeting of this sub-committee, I presented objections to your plan to have the Bulgarian delegation, and it was agreed that the Bulgarians would be received privately by the Allies."

The Ottoman protest was addressed to President Montague of the sub-committee on minorities. It read:

"In the official pronouncements made which was received by our delegation I read, without surprise, that the Armenian and Bulgarian delegations will be heard by the sub-committee on minorities. At the end of the last meeting of this sub-committee, I presented objections to your plan to have the Bulgarian delegation, and it was agreed that the Bulgarians would be received privately by the Allies."

The Ottoman protest was addressed to President Montague of the sub-committee on minorities. It read:

"In the official pronouncements made which was received by our delegation I read, without surprise, that the Armenian and Bulgarian delegations will be heard by the sub-committee on minorities. At the end of the last meeting of this sub-committee, I presented objections to your plan to have the Bulgarian delegation, and it was agreed that the Bulgarians would be received privately by the Allies."

The Ottoman protest was addressed to President Montague of the sub-committee on minorities. It read:

"In the official pronouncements made which was received by our delegation I read, without surprise, that the Armenian and Bulgarian delegations will be heard by the sub-committee on minorities. At the end of the last meeting of this sub-committee, I presented objections to your plan to have the Bulgarian delegation, and it was agreed that the Bulgarians would be received privately by the Allies."

The Ottoman protest was addressed to President Montague of the sub-committee on minorities. It read:

"In the official pronouncements made which was received by our delegation I read, without surprise, that the Armenian and Bulgarian delegations will be heard by the sub-committee on minorities. At the end of the last meeting of this sub-committee, I presented objections to your plan to have the Bulgarian delegation, and it was agreed that the Bulgarians would be received privately by the Allies."

The Ottoman protest was addressed to President Montague of the sub-committee on minorities. It read:

"In the official pronouncements made which was received by our delegation I read, without surprise, that the Armenian and Bulgarian delegations will be heard by the sub-committee on minorities. At the end of the last meeting of this sub-committee, I presented objections to your plan to have the Bulgarian delegation, and it was agreed that the Bulgarians would be received privately by the Allies."

The Ottoman protest was addressed to President Montague of the sub-committee on minorities. It read:

"In the official pronouncements made which was received by our delegation I read, without surprise, that the Armenian